The Service Provider is eligible to contract for work only after inclusion on the Service Provider List.
- 2. The Service Provider must also have a Unified Business Identifier Number as required by the Washington State Department of Revenue. The Service Provider will notify PLIA whenever a change occurs to any of these requirements.
- 3. Process for Contract Work with Insured: An Insured who reports a suspected heating tank oil release and then files an insurance claim will receive the list of Service Providers. All Contracts for Corrective Action are between the Service Provider and the Insured. A copy of the completed contract will be provided to PLIA upon request and will become a public record in accordance with Chapter 42.56 RCW Public Records Act.
- 4. Subcontracts: If the Service Provider does not have the proper training or is unable to perform the technical or engineering services necessary for a Corrective Action, the Service Provider may subcontract the portion of such work. The Service Provider can resubmit an updated Work Plan for PLIA's review and approval or provide written explanation as to why the Work Plan should not be withdrawn.
- c. During the Corrective Action, if the Service Provider finds that the pre-approved Work Plan requires a change due to encountered conditions, they may submit, through the Online Community, a Change Order request for the Insured's approval and then forward to PLIA. - f. PLIA expects that interim and final invoices will be submitted promptly. Invoices submitted more than twelve (12) months after the actions occurred may be subject to additional review to insure the activity was properly completed and thus experience payment delays.
- 8. Payment: PLIA generally processes payments within thirty (30) days after completion of Corrective Actions, in accordance with the pre-approved Work Plan(s) and all pre-approved Change Orders. I. Purpose

Encouraging allies and expecting our leaders to provide a safe, inclusive and respectful workplace.

II. Scope

This policy applies to all Pollution Liability Insurance Agency (PLIA) employees, contractors and volunteers.

III. Definitions

Discrimination – Unfavorable or unfair treatment of a person or class of persons in comparison to others who are not members of the protected class, or retaliation for complaints related to discrimination against a protected class.

Harassment – Verbal, nonverbal or physical conduct that threatens, intimidates, coerces, offends or taunts another person (including sexual, racial or ethnic slurs) that interferes with the employee’s ability to perform their job.

Protected class – A person’s religion, age, sex, status as a breastfeeding mother, marital status, race, color, creed, national origin, political affiliation, military status, status as an honorably discharged veteran, disabled veteran or Vietnam era veteran, sexual orientation, gender expression, gender identity, any real or perceived sensory, mental or physical disability, genetic information, the participation or lack of participation in union activities, or use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a person with a disability.

Sexual harassment – Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature constitute sexual harassment when this conduct explicitly or implicitly affects an individual's employment, unreasonably interferes with an individual's work performance, or creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive work environment.

Retaliation – Adverse action(s) against individuals because they have reported instances of discrimination, harassment or allegations of such conduct, or participated in or have been witnesses in any procedure to address a complaint of discrimination or harassment.

IV. Policy

In order to achieve inclusivity and respect in our work environment, the Pollution Liability Insurance Agency (PLIA) is committed to ensuring that employees are treated respectfully and are free from discrimination and harassment, including sexual harassment.

Discrimination, harassment and sexual harassment of any kind are prohibited by law. They will not be tolerated. It is the responsibility of all employees, contractors and volunteers to foster and maintain a welcoming, inclusive, professional and safe workplace.

Ensuring equal employment opportunity is a vital responsibility for all of us at PLIA. Therefore it is a violation of policy to (1) discriminate in the provision of employment opportunities, benefits or privileges; (2) create discriminatory work conditions; or (3) use discriminatory evaluative standards in employment if the basis of that discriminatory treatment is, in whole or in part, based on membership in a protected class, or retaliation for assisting in the investigation of a complaint.

In addition to the conduct outlined in our respectful work environment policy (see above), harassment based on a protected class is prohibited. Harassment is when, based on membership in a protected class, an employee must endure offensive conduct as a condition of continued employment or when the conduct is severe or pervasive enough to create a work environment that a reasonable person would consider intimidating, hostile or abusive. Types of harassment that fall within this category include, but are not limited to the following:

- Sexual harassment
- Gender-based harassment
- Racial and/or ethnic harassment
- Age-based harassment
- Disability-based harassment
- Sexual orientation harassment
- National origin harassment
- Religion-based harassment

For example, with regard to sexual harassment, it is prohibited to harass a person (an applicant or employee) because of that person's sex, gender identity or gender expression. PLIA will not tolerate sexual harassment of any kind. This includes unwelcome sexual advances, unwelcome requests for sexual favors or unwelcome other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature. Such behavior constitutes sexual harassment when it explicitly or implicitly affects an individual's employment, unreasonably interferes with an individual's work performance or creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive work environment.

Sexual harassment can occur in a variety of circumstances. The victim as well as the harasser may be any gender. The harasser can be the victim's supervisor, a supervisor in another area, a coworker, a contractor or other agent of the employer or a nonemployee such as a client or a customer. The victim does not have to be the person harassed, but could be anyone affected by the offensive conduct even if unintended by the perpetrator. Behaviors leading to sexual harassment can include, but are not limited to, gestures, innuendos, jokes or playful banter.

Reporting

We strongly encourage employees, applicants, volunteers or others who have business with PLIA who witness discrimination, harassment, sexual harassment or retaliation to report violations to any PLIA supervisor, manager, leader or small agency human resources support personnel. While we recognize that victims and bystanders who experience or witness this behavior may feel uncomfortable with reporting violations, reporting of this conduct minimizes future violations of this policy. We will promptly investigate allegations of discrimination, harassment, sexual harassment or retaliation. Where such allegations are substantiated, we will take appropriate corrective or disciplinary action. This process includes support to victims and bystanders.

Retaliation or attempted retaliation against employees, applicants, volunteers or other persons having business with PLIA who file a complaint under this policy or who participate in an investigation will not be tolerated. PLIA encourages employees with complaints alleging discrimination, harassment and/or retaliation to submit them as soon as possible after the alleged violation. A person making a complaint under this policy may also file a complaint with the Washington State Human Rights Commission or the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

PLIA has established a process for reporting discrimination, harassment and sexual harassment complaints, and will ensure that all individuals are protected and provided relief from any form of discrimination or sexual harassment in the workplace. Pursuant to law, there are occasions that an agency must inform employees that it is under a legal obligation to respond to allegations of behaviors covered by this policy. PLIA is committed to responding because it wants to promote an inclusive, respectful and safe culture.

Discussion and Disclosure

In accordance with state law, an employer in the state of Washington may not require an employee, as a condition of employment, to sign a nondisclosure agreement, waiver or other document that prevents the employee from disclosing sexual harassment or sexual assault occurring in the workplace, at work-related events or between employees, or between an employer and employee off the employment premises. Any document signed by an employee as a condition of employment that has this effect is void and unenforceable per RCW 49.44.210. Responses to public records requests will be in accordance with applicable disclosure laws including section 2, chapter 373, Laws of 2019.

In this section, the term “employee” does not include small agency human resources support staff, supervisors or managers when they are expected to maintain confidentiality as part of their assigned job duties. It also does not include individuals who are notified and obligated to participate in an open and ongoing investigation into alleged sexual harassment and asked to maintain confidentiality during that investigation.

Directives

All employees regardless of position are responsible to:

- Read and comply with this policy.
- Request an interpretation of the policy from their supervisor if they are unsure whether any of their behaviors or circumstances may be a breach of the policy.
- Treat all other employees in a manner consistent with this policy and without discrimination, harassment or sexual harassment.
- Consider being an ally for those facing discrimination, harassment and sexual harassment by speaking up when this behavior is observed and/or reporting any violations of this policy.
- Take sexual harassment awareness and prevention training within six months of hire and at least annually thereafter if a nonsupervisory employee.

In addition to the above, all supervisors, managers and leaders at PLIA are responsible to:

- Make employees aware of this policy.
- Provide, with appropriate assistance from small agency human resources, clarifications to employees about potential breaches of the policy.
- Lead by example. Create and maintain a workplace free from discrimination, harassment and sexual harassment.
- Watch for signs and symptoms of violations of this policy, including changes in employee behavior and conduct and be proactive in addressing them when noticed.
- Not condone or ignore violations of this policy, or give employees the impression that they are.
- Document, report and respond in an appropriate and timely fashion to incidents of discrimination or harassment toward employees, applicants, volunteers or persons having business with the PLIA.
- Maintain the confidentiality of all such reports to the extent provided/allowed by law.
- Take sexual harassment awareness and prevention training within six months of hire and annually thereafter.

The Management Team will review this policy annually for changes and effectiveness. As part of that review, the following data and criteria will be used to determine the success of this policy:

- Annually, PLIA will be able to affirm that 100% of our employees have met their sexual harassment training requirements.

- By 2021, the total number of days it takes to intake, respond, investigate (if necessary) and take appropriate action on an employee complaint may not exceed, on average, 60 days unless there are extenuating circumstances.
- At least three times a year, a different manager will present at an all-staff meeting a different aspect of the importance of this policy to the agency and in meeting our diversity, and equity and inclusion goals.
- At each all-staff meeting, the DEI committee will encourage employees to provide input and suggestions on this policy and the actions of leaders to create an environment free from discrimination, harassment and sexual harassment. This feedback will be considered as part of the annual review to determine the success of this policy and PLIA's efforts.

The directives indicated here are not optional, and failure to follow them may lead to discipline, up to and including termination. In addition, these directives and the goals will be used in annual evaluations for supervisors and managers as a specific competency required for satisfactory job performance. Supervisors and managers will be expected to explain how they worked to comply, achieve and exceed the goals identified in this policy.
